SUMMARY

I am a dedicated computer science student with a strong interest in technology. I have a solid foundation in HTML, CSS, Java and Python, which I continue to improve through hands-on practice. I have developed beginner-friendly projects such as a To-Do list application and a simple food calorie tracker, which helped me understand how to apply my skills in real-world scenarios. My strong academic record and passion for learning drive me to explore new technologies and continuously enhance my skills.
